Designed especially for younger kids, Noah's Ark Infant Play Center provides a plethora of play amenities in a single condensed space. The two-by-two animal cutouts on the side of the playset serve as a great introduction to the fun within, which includes some classic and newer play elements that kids are sure to love. For instance, the straight Peek-a-Boo Tunnel not only connects the front of the playset to the rest, it also serves as a natural spot for kids to hang out with their friends, or to get out of the sun on a hot day. Also present within Noah's Ark Infant Play Center are a Driving Wheel panel, which kids can use to imagine they're steering the ship, as well as a Numbers and Oval Gear Panel, both of which are great for stimulating the minds of little ones. The animal graphics around Noah's Ark speak to its thematic appeal, and will invite children to play time and time again.
