For the little ducklings out there, Ducky Infant Play Center will make them all waddle with joy. Infant playsets are great for kids ages 6-23 months, who are just beginning to get a grasp on their motor skills and learning to interact with the world around them. This playset has ample shaded coverage on a raised deck that's designed to keep little ones cool, calm, and collected. While aboard Ducky, children can saunter up and down the playset's three different ramps, each blanketed by rubberized surfacing that helps kids keep their balance while climbing and walking. Aboard the elevated deck, they'll have access to multiple thrilling activity panels, including the ducky mirror/photo combo panel, a steering wheel, and solar shape cut-outs. The animal graphics located around the Ducky Infant Play Center will spur kids' imaginations and help them get a better sense of the world around them.
