Built especially for young ones, Dragonfly Infant Play Center combines just the right play elements to make for a great time for little ones. Infant playsets are great additions to outdoor playgrounds, and it's easy to see why; they allow small children to have just as much fun as their older peers while remaining safe and visible to their caretakers. To ascend the Dragonfly, kids can use the Cheese Stepper and its safety handles, which will help them keep their balance and avoid falls. Once elevated, children can marvel at the Geo Shapes Panel, as well as observe the Gauges Panel, which will offer them a window into some of the interactive elements they'll surely find in the world around them. On the outer side of the Dragonfly Infant Play Center, a high-quality photo of a dragonfly is displayed for all to see. Once children are finished, they can cascade down the Infant Slide, where they can run back around and begin the fun anew.
