Your child will absolutely love this amazing kid-sized version of a functional greenhouse, which is made to encourage an early love and appreciation for gardening, nature, and plants. All of the frames in the greenhouse are made from recycled structural plastic. The windows of the greenhouse are made from extremely durable polycarbonate, which resist breaking for an extra layer of safety. Roof panels at the top of the greenhouse prevent overheating inside, keeping both children and plants at a comfortable temperature. There is also built-in shelf space included in the structure, which allows for plenty of growing room and space for the plants. While the greenhouse is small, adults can duck to enter and easily stand inside to help out and monitor. Show children how to start growing seeds for flowers and vegetables in their very own greenhouse. You can also teach them about the growing process while helping them to learn the responsibility of caring for a real-life garden.
