For playgrounds that could use an infusion of fun, look no further than Ryder's Riddles. This all-in-one play structure is chock full of exciting play amenities, and to top it all off, it features an expansive shade that covers almost the entire perimeter of the structure. Hot and sunny days are an inevitability on most playgrounds, and by offering a shaded area for kids to play under, you can better accommodate the needs of playground-goers who need to take a break from the sun's blistering rays. Ryder's Riddles does just that and more. Starting on the ground floor, this structure features a Ship's Wheel and a Single Drum, both of which encourage imaginative sensory play in differing ways. Next, kids can ascend Ryder's Riddles via the Spiral Climber or the Rock Climbing Wall, which allow them to access the Left and Right Turn Slides. These slides offer a great way for children to zoom back down to the ground to begin the fun anew.
