The Mound Plastic Climber is a very popular commercial playground climber due to its full dome shape that allows children to climb up, down, around, and underneath of the climber. This 8-foot tall climbing dome is the star at any playground. Kids feel like real mountain climbers reaching the top of a mountain. They can also pretend they are exploring a cave when they crawl and climb underneath the mound. As kids have fun exploring and pretending with their friends, they are also getting a full body workout and increasing strength and agility. The Mound Plastic Climber is safe for kids age 5-12 and follows all required playground safety guidelines. The Mound Plastic Climber can hold an amazing 32 children at one time, this is due to its exceptionally sturdy construction and rotationally molded Tortoise panels.
