The Freestanding Double Trapeze is a hit on any playground as an overhead climber. Kids love the unique look of the parallel rows of trapeze rings that allow them to swing from ring to ring as they make their way across the length of the playground equipment. The trapeze rings are manufactured with durable polished aluminum, allowing for safe gripping and easy swinging. Vertical side ladders allow children to enter and exit the climber safely without having to jump to reach or dismount the climber. The Freestanding Double Trapeze is made with quality materials and should be mounted in the ground with the poles set into concrete. Kids love testing their strength and skills on this challenging playground equipment and parents love that Sii adheres to commercial playground safety guidelines while manufacturing their products.
