The Freestanding Zig-Zag Tri-Rung overhead climber is an outstanding strength-developing piece of playground equipment. As indicated by its name, the climber has a top rail formed in a zigzag shape creating a unique course from one end to the other that alters from left to right as the child climbs across. This overhead climber is a great addition to any play area; it is both fun, and challenging. Kids will be enjoying their play while they are building strong muscles and climbing skills. This climber is equipped with side ladders for increased child safety. Sii brand commercial playground equipment is manufactured strictly following playground safety regulations. The Freestanding Zig-Zag Tri-Rung is manufactured with galvanized metal and is designed for busy playgrounds; it can withstand the weight of four children at one time.
