Available in four dynamic colors, the Medium Rubber Boulder by Pierceton is a piece of playground equipment that is inviting and entertaining for children of many ages. Made for commercial use, this piece weighs around 185 pounds, just to give you an idea of how sturdy it is. It is large enough to accommodate three children yet not so tall that little ones can get hurt falling off. These pieces are easy to install and maintain, and they are sure to see a lot of action. Equipment such as this inspires imaginative play while improving balance, agility and coordination. Climbing also helps to develop muscles and motor skills as well. The best thing about this Medium Rubber Boulder is that it is crafted from recycled rubber, so you do not have to increase your carbon footprint by adding one to your play area.
