There is something about reptiles that kids just love. For this reason, the Mosey Turtle by Pierceton is such a popular item to be in any play environment. This piece of equipment is large, yet it is low to the ground so small children can climb with ease. In addition, it is crafted from one solid rubber piece so there are no seams to break away or cause scratches. The thoughtful design of shell of the turtle offers a bit of extra traction so kids can keep their footing as well. Pierceton has made these pieces to be easy to set up and maintain so they are perfect for every playground. Not to mention, they are available in a variety of colors so you can coordinate them with other equipment if you choose.
