Take in the fresh air while working out on the Royal Double Leg Press. A body weight exercise, the Royal Double Leg Press uses you instead of exterior weights for resistance. It comes with two leg presses in one or three if you choose the Triple Royal Leg Press. Teenagers and adults can grab a workout partner to get some reps in with or go solo for a more focused regiment. With its largely powder coat painted steel construction, it will be sure to handle people going head to head. The seats, roof, and base are all Gray rotationally molded plastic no matter which two colors you choose for the powder coat paint. If the equipment is too confusing, the double-sided instructional guide posted in the center will be your best friend. It has detailed instructions on how to employ the proper techniques to get the greatest benefit from the exercise.
