Highlights:

- Powder coated to extend its lifetime
- Basic model with the added feature of a flip-able grate
- Grate lifts out of the way to make managing the coals easier
- Sets to four different levels allowing the user to adjust flame closeness

With 280 square inches of cooking area, the 616 Rotating Flipback Grill is a popular option for parks. Cool coil handles are placed on the sides to ensure the user can move the grate safely even when it is not fully cooled off. The grate is simple to move up and down the four levels that vary for cooking distance or based on whether coals or wood is being used. The grate flips back for fire starting and cleaning. Each grill has a standard high temperature black powder coated finish and a utility shelf for cooking utensils. Perhaps the best feature is that it rotates a full 360°. No matter how your park is set when it is installed, it is always possible to rotate it in the face of changes. The post is a galvanized iron pipe with in-ground mounting for permanent installation.
