This Campfire Grill by Webcoat is a much-needed amenity for your park, especially on nice summer days. This works well for parks that have picnic areas or wide areas that hold parties or get-togethers. The grill is 20-inch x 15-inches and features an adjustable cooking grate. The bottom cooking grate is used for lighting the charcoal on fire and the top is used for the food to sit upon as it is being cooked. The grill plate can be moved between four levels, allowing patrons to choose the best amount of fire exposure for their food. This also allows for more food to fit or to arrange food for better grilling results. Additionally, each grill has 300 square inches of cooking space, allowing for the food to keep coming. The grill is coated in a long-lasting black powder coating that is rust-resistant, ensuring that it stays looking good despite exposure to rain, wind, and sunshine.
