Backless Players' Bench

Participating in sports is a great way to exercise and get healthy. However, too much exercise in some sports could be harmful. It's important to have some rest time in between plays, so every sporting event needs at least one high-quality players' bench on the field and in the locker room. Having a portable team bench allows the players to stay off of their feet and store up their energy, so when the time comes, they're ready to make some quick points. And at AAA State of Play, we have sports benches that are sure to help you score points with whoever controls your budget, thanks to our low prices.

A backless portable sports bench like these is great for taking a break as well as providing a stable object to assist with some pre-game stretches. When you're shopping for a team bench, portable options will often work best, especially for multipurpose athletic fields, but we also offer this sturdy bench with in-ground, surface, or wall mounting for added stability.

This fixed or portable sports bench comes in 6-foot, 8-foot, 15-foot, and 21-foot sizes, is built on 1 7/8-inch OD pipe legs, and stands 17 inches high. The bench seat is made with a 10-inch-wide aluminum frame. If you opt for the portable model, the base will feature 2-foot-wide supports, and plastic floor protectors will also be included.
