Children will be doing more than running around in circles on the Victory Field Play System. The multiple points from which to approach the structure immediately allows for a large variety of experiences. There isn't a clear "start" point with the Gear Panel at ground level next to a Sea Creature Climber a stone's throw away from the Overhead Straight Rung Horizontal Ladder off of the Vertical Ladder. Hidden on the other side is a Pod Climber that sneakily allows children upward access to a nearby Spiral Slide. They can create a tight circle of climb, slide, climb over and over again. The staggered decks creates giant steps that children can easily hop up and down as they discover everything that the system has to offer. Parents of little patrons will be able to rest easy as the Victory Field Play System is made up of powder coat painted galvanized steel, rotationally molded plastic, and sports coated decks for durability and safety.
