Gray's Harbor Play System has a little bit of everything. From the ground to the upper level, kids will find something to play with. The Rain Wheel and Single Drum are used for auditory stimulation and improvisation. The Vertical Ladder attaches to the Overhead Straight Rung Horizontal Ladder, which in turn connects to the secondary level of the unit. This pathway provides an alternate route and a way of improving arm strength. The Double Wave Slide and Wave Slide make reaching the bottom simple and exciting; adding multiple ways to roam that keeps children engaged for longer. The Gray's Harbor Play System comes in multiple color variations as well as the option to choose your own color combination. The primary and neutral color schemes delivers as fast as a week or two with custom options taking up to seven weeks. Whether you go with a set palette or one that is all your own, this charming structure will bring joy to all who play on it.
