Most parents have a mild panic attack when their child wants to use a scooter. There is a high potential for injury with many models, but the MyRider 2-Wheel Scooter is in a league of its own. This advanced design is safe and easy to balance with an extra-long foot plate. There is even a rear-wheel guard, which is hard to find on a scooter. The handgrips are made from heavy duty rubber so they are comfortable to hold and the solid rubber tires are made without spokes so shoestrings will not get caught. The yellow powder-coated, welded steel frame is durable and resists scratches and rust, and the nylon bearings are self-lubricating, so you do not have to maintain them for smooth operation. Not only does this scooter have a 5-year warranty, life service is provided. MyRider Scooters assemble easily so little ones can cruise quickly.
