Toddlers seem to want a trike as soon as they are old enough to walk. Of course, pedals are not quite appropriate, but it is important that they develop balance so they are prepared. The ClassicRider 8-inch Pusher Toddler Trike is low enough so they can operate it with their feet on the ground or you can offer a little push when they are ready! The nonslip seat has a comfortable back support and the handgrips are made of heavy duty rubber, so they are easy to hold onto. Spokeless wheels and a recessed no pinch hub design increases safety while a one-piece welded and powder-coated frame ensures durability. Even the nylon bearings are self-lubricating. This trike is recommended for children 18 to 24-months old and comes fully assembled with a 5-year guarantee and lifetime service. The ClassicRider 8-inch Pusher Toddler Trike is a great stepping stone to a regular tricycle.
