For young ones 24 to 36 months old, the ClassicRider 10-inch Pedal Pusher Toddler Trike offers the perfect seat height to provide little ones with a safe pedaling experience. A seat that is positioned too low, does not allow a child to further develop balance and coordination skills, but anything that is too tall poses a danger if their feet cannot touch the ground. This flashy red trike is built to last with a welded and powder-coated frame and self-lubricating nylon bearings. It is also created with safety as a number one concern with no exposed pedal hardware, spokeless wheels, nonslip seating, rubber handgrip and a recessed no-pinch hub design. A 5-year guarantee and lifetime support are included with popular trike, and it ships fully assembled, so it can be used right away. The ClassicRider 10" Pedal Pusher Toddler Trike is just another stepping stone to a regular bicycle that children will love.
